

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A unitary-formed electrode structure serving as both a collector and a polarization electrode includes an electrically conductive base serving as the collector, and a polarization electrode that includes a multiplicity of separate polarization particles dispersed throughout the base and exposed in at least a part of a surface of the base.